

Outlook For 2020-21 State Budget: Healthier, But Still Tight

The Texas Comptroller's office recently raised its revenue estimate by nearly $3 billion, but the Legislative Budget Board is warning state agencies not to ask for more money than they got last time

ANDREW SCHNEIDER | JULY 23, 2018, 7:48 AM

How much money the state spends can be dictated by the Texas Comptroller.

Texas state agencies are preparing their funding requests for the next budget cycle. The latest state revenue estimate went up by more than $2.8 billion. But the Legislative Budget Board is warning state agencies not to ask for more money.

00:00 /00:52